$8000 Holdup In South End

Two gunmen, one wearing an Army field jacket, escaped with an $8000 payroll today in a daring daylight holdup of two officials of the Plymouth Manufacturing Co. just as they entered the raincoat factory in Albany st., South End.

Victims of the holdup were Production Manager Elliott Michaelson, 27, Robeson st., Jamaica Plain, who was carrying a satchel containing the payroll, and Arthur Ofshovitz, floor man, Torrey st., Dorchester.

The pair had gone to a branch bank at Dover and Washington sts. and withdrawn the payroll money, a customary weekly routine, and were just entering their plant when the holdup occurred.

Michaelson, in the lead, had mounted the five steps leading to the front door and foyer of the building when one of the holdup men stepped from a recess, pointed a .45 automatic at him and seized the satchel.

Pushing him into the foyer, the gunman said:

"Get inside there, if you want to save your life."

Ofshovitz, meanwhile, had been cornered from the rear by the second gunman, and he, too, was forced through the door into the foyer.

Michaelson obtained a good look at the gunman who robbed him but did not see the second, while Ofshovitz told police he did not see either man.

There were no other witnesses to the holdup and police were unable to learn whether the bandits escaped in an auto, although they believe a car probably was in waiting for them.

Michaelson described the man woh held him up as about 28, six feet tall and weighing 175 pounds. He said he was wearing a gray felt hat and an Army field jacket.

Reuther Plans Expansion of CIO Auto Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 28 (AP)—Walter Reuther, newly-elected president of the CIO United Auto Workers, launched his big union toward new spheres of influence today after defeating R. J. Thomas, president for seven years, in a turbulent four-hour roll call at the union convention, marked by fist-fighting and confusion. The official count was 4445 to 4320.

The delegates turned today to filling two vice-presidential vacancies but were equally interested in where the General Motors strike strategist might be planning to lead the UAW-CIO.

Reuther told a news conference after his election that he would work toward:

1—Organizing farm equipment workers in a big way.

2—Industry-wide collective bargaining in the automotive industry based on equal pay for equal work.

3—A bigger, stronger and more unified union, developing responsibility in all plants so that workers would not strike unless authorized.

4—A guaranteed annual wage for workers.

5—Organizing white - collar workers, engineers and technicians of the auto industry.

George F. Addes, secretary treasurer since 1936, was re-elected on a unanimous ballot. He promised his co-operation with Reuther to build a "tremendous union" with the "most progressive" policies the UAW has yet undertaken.

Louise Dickinson, Lumberman Wed

RUMFORD, Me., March 28 (AP) — Louise Dickinson Rich, author of "We Took to the Woods," and James Barnett, retired lumberman, were married today at Mrs. Rich's home.

Marriage intentions said both Mrs. Rich, who is 42, and Barnett, 62, had been married twice previously. Ralph Rich died in December, 1944.

The bride, whose new book, "Happy the Land," will be published in May, is the daughter of James Dickinson, publisher of the Bridgewater, Mass., weekly, Independent, and Mrs. Dickinson.

UNO in Secret Parley After Reds Take Walk

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—The United Nations Organizations Security Council was called into executive session today to discuss grave problems raised by Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko's walkout when the council refused to postpone consideration of the Iranian issue. A Soviet spokesman indicated Gromyko would attend the session with understanding the council would not go into the merits of the dispute.

Soviet Delegate Leaving Session

The spokesman's statement reinforced the general understanding that the Soviet delegate had not divorced himself from the council but was merely standing pat on his determination not to participate in any discussion of the Iranian case prior to April 10.

The decision to go into executive session apparently precluded until Friday further open discussion of Iran's protests against prolonged occupation by Soviet troops, alleged Russian interference in her internal affairs and designs on rich oil reserves near the Caspian.

The Iranian case was presented by Ambasador Hussein Ala—who called the situation in Iran "explosive" and a threat to world peace—after Gromyko had dramatically absented himself and hastened with his staff to the Soviet consulate general for consultation and possibly to seek new instructions from Moscow.

Polish delegate Oscar Lange, who voted with Russia throughout Gromyko's effort to keep the Iranian question from Council, said he did not consider the Soviet delegate had withdrawn from the Council.

"It was just a matter of the Soviet delegate absenting himself," Lange said.

Hussein Ala said Soviet officials proposed that:

1—Soviet troops remain in some parts of Iran indefinitely.

2—The Iranian government should recognize internal autonomy for Azerbaijan, with the provincial premier becoming governor general, with provincial ministeries of foreign affairs and war abolished, with 30 per cent of the provincial revenue paid to the Iranian central government and all correspondence with the central government conducted in the Persian language.

3—The Soviet government should abandon demands for an oil concession, and an Iranian-Russian joint stock company should be set up with 51 per cent of the shares held by the Soviet Union and 49 per cent by Iran.

Hussein Ala said Premier Qavam rejected these demands and Soviet officials withdrew them. Further efforts, the Iranian said, had not clarified the situation.

Iran's Premier Mum On UNO Developments

TEHRAN, March 28 (AP) — American, French and British newsmen who requested a press conference with Premier Ahmed Qavam today to learn his reaction to yesterday's developments in the UNO Security Council, were told by an undersecretary of state:

Russia's Public Told Of UNO Row on Iran

MOSCOW, March 28 (AP)—The Russian press printed today a Tass News Agency dispatch from New York saying the Iranian case had been placed before the USO Sechrity Council over the objection of Soviet Ambassador Andrei Gromyko because of the insistence by State Sec. Byrnes, supported by Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate.

This report also was carried by the Soviet radio and home service.

Yugoslav Attack In Trieste Fizzles

LONDON, March 28 (INS)—The Daily Herald reported from Trieste today that an expected Communist attack on some 70,000 Italians demonstrating for transfer of the city to Italian control had failed to materialize.

Yugoslav Communists who milled about the disputed city throughout the day called off the expected assault when the Italians massed in the Piazza Unita. Thirty-three persons were injured and hundreds arrested during minor street clashes.

Boy, 6, Has Fling at Finance

COLUMBUS, O., March 28 (AP)—Six-year-old Jerry Lyle is only in 1-A at Southward Avenue School, but today he had a good education in the monetary system.

He has learned, for example, that those pieces of paper marked "50 dollars" and "100 dollars" which he blithely passed among classmates yesterday were not play money.

Jerry had more than $2000 in his pockets when an astonished teacher began investigating the children who were waving $50 and $100 bills.

Jerry had found $2700 in a cigar box in a bedroom closet of his grandmother, Mrs. John S. Fairchild, who said the money was to be used for buying a dry cleaning business.

She retrieved all except a $50

Kelleys Still Hold Fort, Get Offers of Aid

The embattled Kelleys still held the fort at the East Boston housing project today, but no longer were they fighting eviction alone and unaided. They found they had a lot of well-wishers.

It isn't that Mrs. Mary E. Kelley, 40-year-old mother of 10 children, needs help from any source. She proved that yesterday when she routed a constable, two crews of truckmen and officials of the housing authority.

Yet she brightened perceptibly when told the International Longshoremen's Union was taking her plight right to headquarters in Washington. She broke into a wide, good-natured Irish smile when she further learned that Mayor Curley perhaps will help and that Francis E. Kelley is going to herve as her lawyer.

"Well isn't that just fine," she told Daniel J. Donovan, secretary-treasurer of the longshoremen's union, who volunteered the help.

The latter promised that no union truckman in Boston would move a stick of furniture from the Kelley's seven-room apartment. Donovan said he had asked Mayor Curley to help in the union's demand that the National Housing Authority probe the East Boston housing project setup, including the charge that ex-war workers from Maine, New Hampshire and the Carolinas have most of the choice spots at the project.

It was then that Mrs. Kelley shyly disclosed that she's going to have another little Kelley and that that is just another reason why she refuses to budge from her home.

"Yes, Dr. Cohen is coming over to see me today," she told reporters. "It's sort of like the movie, 'The Kelly's and the Cohen's, isn't it?" she observed. Dr. Cohen is Dr. Louis Cohen, the family physician on nearby Meridian st.

"Put me out?" she continued. "Well, they've got one devil of a job on their hands. They'll find out that the East Boston Kelleys don't bluff easy."

Meanwhile, John Steele, manager of the housing project, confessed he doesn't know what the next move will be. He admitted that union drivers wouldn't cart off the Kelley furniture even if they could get into the apartment, and that one non-union man had refused the job when he learned of the circumstances.

His next move probably will be decided at a meeting today at the Boston housing authority in Post-office sq.

Mrs. Kelley's husband, Charles, a longshoreman, had a few things to say himself today on the eviction order, issued by Judge Brown in East Boston court to climax two years of disputes over the Kelley residence at the project.

He accompanied Donovan and Steele to a meeting with a housing authority attorney in the offices on the premises. The lawyer repeated once more that the Kelleys had got to "get out of our property."

"Your property," Kelley fumed. "You mean the property of the U. S. Government. It's property of kids like my son who had a ship shot out from under him at Okinawa just so guys like you could have soft jobs. No sir, it's not your property."

Papa Kelly is a very quiet gent and his first outburst was the first since the eviction proceedings began. Half apologetically, he wound up with, "Well, I guess I'll go home and see what the missus has for dinner."

Being a Thursday, Mrs. Kelly had a fine pot of corned beef and cabbage just about ready to be dished out. The Kelly family includes Charles E., Jr., 21, the Navy vet; Mary, 20; Dorothy, 17; Joseph, 15; Harold, 14; John, 12; Helen, 11; Margaret, 8; Anna, 3, and Colin 2.

"Boy, what I've been through," Mrs. Kelly said in a parting shot to reporters as her family sat down to eat. 'I slept in a chair backed up to the front door all night. What I said, still goes. Nothing goes out of here except over my dead body."

24 Captured in Big Dice Raid

Deputy Police Supt. James T. Sheehan and his rackets squad smashed their way into a Dorchester apartment house today, broke up one of Boston's biggest dice games, and seized 24 men, $10,000 cash and costly gambling equipment. Sheehan and his hand-picked squad of 12 racket busters wielded axes to crash the barricaded door of a three-story Erie st. building, then burst into a second-floor room, where a game was in progress, before players had a chance to flee.

Dice, chips and money were found spread out on a 15-foot table surrounded by players. Two men made half-hearted attempts to hide, but all were taken into custody without resistance. On the person of one man, a Dorchester resident, police found $4300. Others had large sums but most of the confiscated cash was lying on the dice table.

James T. Sheehan

The men were loaded, in groups of six, into four waiting police wagons and taken to the Mattapan station for booking.

Sheehan declared his squad also was seeking to locate a second big-money "floating" dice game reported to be operating in the same manner in the city. He said the raided game was not a "friendly" one but was operated by professionals and that the same type of gamblers were conducting the second game.

"Both these games are the type from which serious trouble can develop," Sheehan declared. "First, there is the possibility of quarrels starting among the players and, second, there is the chance of holdups which might result in shooting and serious results."

He said members of his squad had learned by chance of the location of the game they raided and that the tipoff did not come from a woman, as had been rumored.

Except for the apartment in which the game was in progress, the building was vacant. Police are checking ownership and lease.

According to Sheehan, the early morning raid broke up one of the largest gambling rings to operate in Boston in recent months.

Aided by Det. Lt. Chester A. Henchey, Sheehan carefully mapped the raid and had the building surrounded with officers, squad cars and police wagons before the doorway was forced.

The heavily boarded double doors were equipped with peep holes for the use of a lookout, who would respond to knocks of patrons arriving to play. However, the raiders broke through the doors before a warning could be sounded.

2 Welsh Brides Here, Await Men

Two Welsh brides and an English bride-to-be spent a sleepless night aboard the William Ogden docked at the Army Base, but they want the world to know it wasn't because of anger.

"We couldn't sleep because we were so excited. We had been represented as worrying all night for far our husbands had let us down, but we know them better than that," was the burden of their statement.

Mrs. Anita Tiska, 19, and Mrs. Pat Montrose, 20, both of Cardiff, received news their merchant seamen husbands were in Portland, Me., where the ship was orginally intended to berth.

The other girl, Barbara Peers, expected her fiance, James Witham of Marble Mount, Wash., to greet her. She was happy anyway to receive a telegram from him.

It included traveling money and this message:

"Sorry, couldn't make trip. Take next train. Wedding plans ready."

Baby Holding Own After Throat Surgery

Baby Nancy Eleanor Perkins, who underwent a throat operation last Saturday, was reported "little changed" today at Children's Hospital but authorities indicated she was making progress.

The infant, now seven days old, hurried to Boston from Washington last Friday after she was found unable to swallow food, was still being fed by a tube.

Dana Andrews Soda Jerk

HOLLYWOOD, March 27 (AP)—Warm weather wasn't entirely responsible for that run on a soda fountain near Hollywood High School.

The fact film actor Dana Andrews, natty in spotless white soda dispensers' jacket and cap, was behind the counter had something to do with the rush, chiefly by bobby soxers.

The story goes Andrews is soon to play the role of a soft drink clerk (sometimes known as soda jerk) in a forthcoming film. So, to pick up the tricks of the business, he attended a school conducted by a drug store chain.

Graduating with honors, he demonstrated his proficiency at a drug store that just happened to be near Hollywood High School. And the kids just happened to find out about it. The studio press department thinks there must have been a leak somewhere.

3 Saved by Ladder In Big Woburn Fire

Seven persons were rescued, three of them, including an expectant mother, over ladders, when a spectacular general-alarm fire destroyed the 2½-story Town Line Cafe building, at Main and Cross sts., Woburn, early today, causing damage estimated at $50,000.

Hero of the blaze was James F. Allen, a truck driver, of Pierce st., Neponset, who spotted flames shooting from the windows as he drove along Main st.

After sounding the alarm, he rushed into the Cross st. side of the building to arouse Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bucci and their daughters, Phyllis, 14, and Barbara, 16. Allen then led the Bucci family to safety down a smoke-filled hallway.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. William Meehan and Miss Mae Kennedy were trapped in their apartments when flames cut off their only exit. Mrs. Meehan was reported to be an expectant mother. They were rescued over ladders by Woburn Firemen John H. McGann and James M. McGovern.

Cause of the blaze was under investigation. Fire officials said it apparently started in a bulkhead in the rear of the building. John Ahern's the building owner.

Apparatus from Woburn and Winchester battled the fire and the Stoneham department filled in for Woburn. Flames igniting the next-door home of John Lennon, Woburn oil dealer, were quickly extinguished.

Boston-bound traffic along Main st. was delayed and buses were rerouted along side streets. Since Woburn voted dry two years ago, the Town Line Cafe on the first floor of the business-apartment building, has been operated as a dining room and dairy bar.

Vets' Bonus Boost Waits House Vote

Massachusetts war veterans were another step nearer an extra state bonus payment today, following acceptance for a first reading by the House of Representatives of a Senate-approved bill to establish a scale bonus paying $100 to $200 in addition to the present $100 bonus.

The House took this action after rejecting, without debate, a bill to pay all veterans a $1000 bonus, revenue for which would be raised through a state lottery.

More Red Spy Arrests Waited

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, March 28—The FBI is poised to make other arrests in the Soviet spy ring operating in the United States. The House committee on un-American activities, concentrating on atomic bomb secrets leaking out to Soviet agents from American scientists, was reported on "a very hot trail."

A number of government employes cognizant of details of Manhattan District, the atomic bomb project, either members of well-known Communist front groups or associates of active Communists, were under investigation by committee investigators.

These were among the developments today in the wake of the arrest on espionage charges of Lt. Nicolai Gregorovich Redin, Russian naval officer, in Portland, Ore.

It was learned that a complete roundup of Russian agents only awaited the green light from the State Dept.

Whether the dramatic withdrawal of the Soviet Union from the UNO security council would set off the go-ahead signal remained to be seen.

Significantly, Acting State Sec. Dean Acheson, a previous moving spirit in the Soviet appeasement bloc in the department, stated that the FBI had kept the State Department fully informed of its moves in the Portland spy case.

Ernie Adamson, chief counsel for the House committee on un-American activities, who has been investigating the Soviet espionage setup, expressed the opinion that Lieut. Redin was only a courier.

Adamson is scheduled to go to Canada to exchange information with the authorities there regarding the Soviet espionage organization.

Rep. John S. Wood (D.) of Georgia, committee chairman, announced that espionage hearings would be held behind closed doors within the next month in Washington, New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Knoxville, Tenn., near the site of the Oak Ridge atomic bomb project.

The committee has evidence of photographs of certain aspects of atomic bomb production being forwarded to Moscow.

MONTREAL, March 28 (AP)—Fred Rose, Communist member of Parliament, was committed for trial today on charges of imparting official secrets to Soviet Russia, and was ordered to prison. His $10,000 bail was cancelled.

Catholic Answer Waited To Charges of Oppression

New England Catholics awaited the reply of spokesmen of their faith today to charges of intolerance and persecution of Protestants by the Catholic hierarchy in Spain, South America and Italy, made by Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam in his address at an ecumenical service at Trinity Church. Catholic church leaders indicated that if a formal answer is presented to Bishop Oxnam's attack, it will be forthcoming only after a study of the full text of his statement is completed.

President of the Federal Council of Churches in the United States and head of the Washington area of the Methodist Church, Bishop Oxnam stirred the Catholic world when he charged that principles and practices of the Roman Church hierarchy constitute a threat to democracy.

He vigorously voiced his criticism before 2000 persons who had filled the Copley sq. edifice to capacity for the ecumenical service, first of its kind to be held in Boston, conducted jointly by ranking clergymen of the Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Unitarian, Congregational and Greek Orthodox churches.

Catholic hierarchal leaders, Bishop Oxman declared, foster political activities that gravely menace both political and religious freedom, in America as well as other parts of the world.

First citing alleged discrimination against Protestant churches in Catholic dominated countries abroad, he said:

"In the United States pressure on newspapers, radio and other sources of public information, together with political activities that constitute a grave threat both to political and religious freedom, give Protestants grave concern.

"When Harold J. Laski was attacked because he criticized the Vatican's attitude toward Franco Spain, efforts were made to keep his speech off the radio. Others who participated in the meeting were threatened."

On the basis of expediency the Catholic church tolerates the separation of church and state but argues that constitutions of governments may be changed and that toleration is not necessarily a permanent commitment, Bishop Oxnam declared.

"The result is that in Spain, Protestant schools have been closed, the right to distribute the Bible denied. In 1944, but 20 of the 200 Protestant churches were open. In Peru, the hierarchy in a pastoral letter attacked Protestantism viciously, summoned the faithful to attack it and was responsible for serious denials of religious liberty.

"Similarly in Mexico, the pastoral letter was followed by violence in which Protestant churches were destroyed and Protestant preachers attacked and brutally beaten."

Bishop Oxnam said when a Protestant charges abuse of privilege by the Catholic hierarchy he is accused of attacking the church.

"This is not true," he asserted. "He stands ready to protect the religious liberty of the Roman Catholic, but he stands likewise ready to resist those practices that are political and designed to secure secular privilege."

In another part of his address Bishop Oxnam said: "Protestants refuse to believe that a religious hierarchy possesses all the truth about God. They reject the dogma that man is dependent for his salvation upon a priestly class or a system of sacraments.

"The denial of private judgment in the realm of religion is likewise a repudiation of democracy. The assumption that a hierarchy alone is qualified to make decisions for free men in the realm of faith is of the same cloth as the assumption of Facsism that a political hierarchy has the right to make final decisions in the political life."

Gloucester Vets' Protests Start Probe of Fish Tieup

A state investigation of Gloucester's fish industry tieup loomed today in the wake of charges that 300 of the port's 1300 idle fish processors were fired in violation of the GI Bill of Rights.

State selective service officials were requested to probe the controversy after three veterans protested to the Gloucester draft board that they had been fired from their jobs before they had been employed a year following discharge from service.

Ex-Mayor Donald J. Ross of Gloucester, counsel for the trio, declared approximately 300 other veterans had been treated in like fashion, whereupon the draft board by a 3-2 vote demanded a state investigation.

Two days of negotiation before the state arbitration board have failed to solve the dispute, which has crippled the eastern seaboard's major fish port and threatens an estimated 7,000,000 pounds of fish with spoilage.

Cutters and handlers were laid off Saturday and Monday after dealers accused the fishermen's union of staging a work slowdown during contract negotiations.

Meanwhile, five draggers brought 350,000 more pounds of fish to the Boston fish pier. Most of it was cod and sold for 6 and 6½ cents. Four Gloucester vessels brought in cargoes of red fish, which sold here for from 1½ to 3 cents, well below the ceiling of 4¼ cents.

Girls' Essay Fires Feud That Rocks Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, March 28—Fifteen-year-old Barbara Garde, a Sacred Heart High School student, didn't mean to cause a feud between the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce, but there's a humdinger developing, with the Chamber asking the Lions to apologize and the Lions roaring back in defiance.

In fact, the Lions Club, at its luncheon tomorrow, will hand Barbara a $50 prize for winning their essay contest, "What Springfield Needs Most," by saying it was in dire need of a wide-awake Chamber of Commerce.

Barbara red her essay over the radio last night. Listening in was Harold D. Leslie, executive secretary of the Chamber. Barbara's first sentence filled him with so much umbrage he hastened for pen and paper to demand an apology from the five Lions Club judges who gave her the prize. She said:

"Springfield's greatest need is a wide-awake and progressive Chamber of Commerce."

This morning, each of the five judges received from the Chamber's secretary a letter which set forth:

"Unless your committee of judges can bring some specific charge of dereliction against the chamber of commerce, or can offer some constructive suggestion as to something the chamber should do which it is not now doing, it is my honest belief you owe this organization a public apology for the inference which the people of Springfield are bound to draw from the award you have made."

Leslie said he hadn't seen any of the essay contestants around the chamber in search of first hand information about it.

Barbara came back with, "Unfair." She said she had done plenty of research but preferred the library for sources.

One of the judges, Allen W. Broden, who is a member of the Chamber as well as of the Lions Club, said, "I don't feel we owe anybody an apology."

Atty. Samuel L. Fein, another judge, said he wasn't going to apologize to anyone.

Mrs. Roger L. Putnam wife of the former mayor, and a contest judge, answered, "No apology is called for."

Dr. Chester S. McGowan, president of the American International College, another judge, said he found the apology demand, "very interesting."

The last judge, Charles L. Lee, general secretary of the YMCA, said nothing.

They will hand Barbara the $50 at theHo tel Sheraton tomorrow.

Spain's Price Too High For Them, Japs Say

TOKYO, March 28 (AP)—Japanese diplomats just repatriated from Europe said today Gibraltar was not attacked through Spain in World War II simply because Spain's price — French North Africa—was too high.

They said Madrid's relations with Germany and Italy were "much more than co-operation," but declined details.

Death, Love Speed Two Vets to Europe

Two combat-tested soldiers in love with European girls hurried through Boston today to board transatlantic airliners—one flying to Belgium to claim his sweetheart, the other racing to England to the bedside of his dying wife.

For Frank A. Botte, Jr., 23, of Chelsea st., East Boston, the flight from Bedford airport will climax a romantic hope he has held since last November, when his Belgian fiancee promised to wait for him as he departed under Army orders to return home.

For Joseph Camanzey, 22, Taunton ex-paratrooper, his flight to New York will be the first leg of an aerial dash to the Nottingham home of Winifred May Howarth, critically ill with virulent anemia.

Botte, then a sergeant, was checking homes during the American advance through Belgium in September, 1944, when he knocked on a door in Brugelette and it was opened by Ghislaine Lifebvre.

"When I saw 'Gris' I knew I had to see her again, so I asked if I might come back and have Sunday dinner at her home. During that meal her father could see I was having a lot of trouble keeping my mind on the family talk, and invited me again," Botte related.

"Before many more Sunday dinners were served, she and I knew we were in love. Every time we went walking I asked her to marry me, but European girls aren't as hasty about that sort of thing as some girls over here.

Fall in Hub Elevator Pit Injures Tailor

Found at the bottom of a sidewalk elevator pit in front of Schrafft's Restaurant, Summer st., near Washington, Benjamin Bernhardt, 59, of Saybrook st., Brighton, was extricated by police and firemen today and taken to City Hospital in serious condition.

Doctors said he suffered a possible skull fracture, lacerations and an eye injury when his head became wedged between the elevator and the rear wall after he fell over a guard rail. Bernhardt operates a tailor shop in Market st., Brighton.

Boy's Dynamite Death Seen Prank

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 28 (AP)—The dynamite death of Joseph Montgomery, 17-year-old high school student and a chemistry fan, was viewed by police today as possibly accidental.

The youth's dismembered body, found in a vacant lot had been missing since Tuesday.

Montgomery had entered a florist shop, telling a high school acquaintance that he had strapped to his body two sticks of dynamite wired to a battery. By pressing a button he could explode the dynamite, he said.

Police believe the youth may have pressed the button unintentionally.

Sullivan will represent the school at the Hearst contest in Faneuil Hall, April 10.

Frisky's Gone, Mike Is Sad

LOS ANGELES, March 28 (AP)—Mike got the bad news last night. He had to give up his girl friend. And Mike is the saddest-looking sack in Los Angeles.

Mike is a dog. His gal chum is Frisky, half scotty, half blonde cocker spaniel. Frisky had run afoul Los Angeles' terrible housing situation, but Mike fixed things with his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Tourtalotte. They took her in.

Then the Tourtalotte's landlord said no, Frisky would have to go. If she didn't, the whole kit and caboodle, or words to that effect, could start looking for new quarters.

So the Tourtalottes called a newspaper to find a new owner for Frisky. Bob Ritchie, a photographer, went out to take her picture. He got it—and Frisky, too, because he has a big back yard and a little girl who wanted a dog.

But Mike is pretty griped about things. Especially the housing situation. And landlords, phooey!

Hollywood Highlights

TO WED — Rose Marie, famed singing star, will become the September bride of Bob Guy, soldier trumpeter. The couple plan to have the nuptial performed in New York's Little Church Around the Corner.

LOSES PLEA — Martha O'Driscoll lost her plea for a default divorce from Richard D. Adams, former Navy commander, in Los Angeles Court. He has been given an opportunity to answer her cruelty charges.

FIRST FILM — Fully recovered from an automobile accident three years ago, Irene Hervey will begin working on her first film since the crash.

RETURNS — Screen star Michelle Morgan has returned to Hollywood this week after flying from Paris. She had entertained occupation troops in Europe during her stay on the continent.

Sheridan to Leave Governor's Council

Carl A. Sheridan, Framingham lawyer, today disclosed he plans to resign from the Governor's council, and gave as his reason the need to devote more time to his law business.

He said he decided to resign now because "the Legislature elected me to the Council, and, since I decided against running for re-election, I think it only fair to give the Legislature the opportunity to elect my successor."

He said it seemed to him that Otis M. Whitney of Concord, a lieutenant colonel in the army until his discharge about a year ago, seemed to him "the most probable choice of the House and Senate."

Sheridan and Whitney are Republicans, and it is expected the Republican-dominated Legislature will elect a Republican to fill the vacancy.

The resignation will probably be submitted to Gov. Tobin on his return from Florida.

Music Group OK's 4 U. S. Patriot Songs, Bar 'Georgia'

CLEVELAND, March 28 (AP)—These four patriotic songs are "essential," says a special committee of the Music Educators' National Conference: "Star Spangled Banner," "America," "America the Beautiful," "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

But objectionable, on the ground it is "too sectional," is "Marching Though Georgia."

The committee's function was to find means of combatting the anticipated slump in patriotic fervor following the end of a war.

Besides the essential songs, it named the following as optional: "God Bless America," "Hail Columbia," "Taps," "Tenting Tonight," and "Grand Old Flag."

These were declared "desirable"—"Air Corps Song," "Field Artillery Song," "Dixie," "Marines' Hymn," "Over There," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and "Yankee Doodle."

The committee was headed by Peter W. Dykema, professor emeritus of music education at Columbia University.

Secret Red-Nazi Pact Testimony Stirs War Trial

NUERNBERG, March 28 (AP)—Von Ribbentrop's former secretary testified before the International Military Tribunal today a secret Russian-German pact dividing eastern European territories, including Poland, was brought from Moscow by the Nazi foreign minister in August, 1939, before the start of the war.

The witness, Margaret Blank, said the pact was in a sealed envelope bearing the inscription, ment," and that she had seen the original copy. She said she was charged with keeping its existence secret.

Miss Blank was permitted to testify only after the tribunal had considered the matter in private 75 minutes over the strenuous objections of the Soviet prosecutor, Gen. R. A. Rudenko.

The witness also told the court Ribbentrop began peace overtures as early as the winter of 1943 when with Hitler's permission he had sent a Professor Berger to Switzerland for the purpose of finding a basis for peace negotiations through Berne, Stockholm, Madrid, Lisbon and the Vatican.

On April 20, 1945, Ribbentrop also notified Hitler he wanted to undertake peace negotiations, she said, but Hitler would "sanction negotiations only if military success were present."

The defense then summoned Paul Otto Schmidt, Hitler's official interpreter, to testify.

The woman witness barely had time to assert that a Russian-German treaty had been signed by Ribbentrop and Foreign Minister Molotov in Moscow when the Soviet prosecutor got on his feet and objected.

He declared the matter was irrelevant and the witness was not rompetent to testify ronrerning the alleged treaty, thus posing one of the most delicate questions to be presented to the tribunal since the war crimes trial opened more than four months ago.

Gen. Rudenko charged attempts of attorneys for both Von Ribbentrop apd Hess to bring the reported secret pact into the trial were "purely provocative."

Oratory Elimination Test Deadline Near

By BERT FORD

Throughout the Boston area in high schools and colleges today, intramural contests were being completed in the 1946 Hearst Newspapers National Oratorical Contest: "Andrew Jackson, Seventh President of the United States," with competition both enthusiastic and keen.

Latest school to announce its intramural champion was Roxbury Memorial High School for Boys, and the winner is Paul F. Sullivan, 17, senior, of McLellan st., Roxbury. He is vice-president of the high school debating club and an associate editor of the school's Year Book and of the Bostonian, school magazine.

Already an experienced orator, young Sullivan won the Old South Meeting House Oratorical Contest held last Feb. 22, an annual Washington's Birthday event.

Runners-up in the school intramural were Kenneth Rosen, 17, a senior, of Powellton rd., Dorchester; Charles H. Lewis of Shawmut ave., South End, and Harold Bloom, 17, of Brookford st., Roxbury.

The contest was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth McGrath, head of the department of public speaking at Roxbury Memorial, and it was held in the school auditorium.

Other high schools and colleges will complete their intramurals during the week. The names of all winners must be in the hands of the Contest Editor, Boston Record-American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, by April 3, in order to prepare for the Boston finals, which will be held in Faneuil Hall on April 10.

Boston University, it was announced today, will hold its intramural contest April 2.

Winners of the Boston finals at Faneuil Hall will be eligible for both eastern zone and national finals, to be held in Boston Latin School, the zone finals on April 24 and the national finals on May 2.

Champions from 13 major cities throughout the country, high school and college students, will attend the finals, and will be eligible for $25,000 in local and national awards, equally divided between the two groups. All awards will be in Victory bonds.

The two top winners will also be conducted on a special trip, with all expenses paid, through Andrew Jackson's own country; through the states where he achieved his colorful and dramatic career as a great fighting general, a constructive statesman and a President of the United States whose name is memorable in history.

Warned South

Andrew Jackson, who foresaw the eventual outbreak of the war between the states with political clairvoyance, made it unmistakably clear to the people of South Carolina that if they resisted the laws of the United States, they would be met by the mass resistance of the states loyal to the Union. His proclamation was received with unanimous enthusiasm in the north, and was generally approved in all sections except South Carolina. Had he lived, he might have averted the tragedy of civil war.

Pigeonholed?

TOKYO, March 28 (AP)—Last July 25, the Seiko Maru put to sea for machinegun practice. Today one of her pigeons landed on the deck of a U. S. Navy oiler off Tokyo bay.

Its message, dated July 25 said: "Seiko Maru completed practice . . . Request we be met outside harbor."

No one knows where the pigeon has been—or where the ship went, either.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Japs Broke U. S. Weather Codes

LOS ANGELES, March 28 (AP)—During the war months when everyone was keeping hush-hush about the weather, the Japs were intercepting American military weather reports and translating them with broken codes.

So says Gen. MacArthur's top weatherman, Col. Theodore R. Gillenwaters, former operations chief of the AAF's worldwide weather service. But the Nips put it to little use, Gillenwaters found, explaining that little of the data reached their field commanders.

The colonel, here on terminal leave, chuckled as he remarked that the normal Jap forecast late in the war was:

"Generally clear tomorrow, followed by B-29's."

A BLENDING TRIUMPH! It's light . . . smooth as silk . . . palatable—yet it's so rich with flavor, so delicious in taste! It makes an Old Fashioned that's creamy, velvety—a truly remarkable drink, thanks to a truly remarkable whiskey!

WANTED! . . . BY FLEISCHMANN

Good Judges of Good Whiskey to try a Fine Old Brand!

Would'at you like to serve a whiskey that has the full, ripe richness of the world's finest, most limited brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

THIS invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey . . . who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. We selected the finest grains, and backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.

The result is — Fleischmann's PREFERRED, one of the world's most remarkable whiskies. Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts for some time to come, because our facilities have been devoted to the war effort . . . but if your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll always be glad you did!

FOR AN "OLD FASHIONED" that tastes like cream—to ¼ level teaspoon of granulated sugar, add 2 or 3 dashes of bitters in an Old Fashioned glass, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar. Muddle! Add ice cubes, 1½ oz. of FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED. Garnish with cherry, twisted lemon peel, or orange and pineapple!

THE WORLD'S GREATEST "MANHATTAN"? We say so! Just take 1 dash of Angostura Bitters, ¾ oz. sweet vermouth, and 1½ oz. of FLEISCHMANN'S PREFERRED! Stir with ice, strain into 4-ounce glass, add one Maraschino cherry! That's all!

FLEISCHMANN'S
PREFERRED
BLENDED WHISKEY

The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old; 35% straight whiskies, 65% neutral spirits distilled from grain. 90 Proof.

Better your home... better your Living

After all, what is HOME?

It's not a state—no matter how big, how beautiful, how wonderful. It's not a town—even though there's a big lump in your throat when you come back after long absence. It's not even a street, nor the village square where stands the tree you carved your initials in as a kid.

Ask yourself again—what is home? Then tell yourself, remind yourself often—just what home really is!

Well, it starts with the click of the lock in your own front door. It finds voice in the whir of your lawnmower. The birds make song of it from the trees in your own front yard. You see it in the glow of your children's cheeks—in a pretty wife's warm smile. You hear it in her sweet voice when her "That you, darling?" welcomes you home from work. That's your haven and your home—big as all America!

Yes, it can be so big and so grand to you, can do so very much for you—if only you'll do a little for it!

And always—always—whenever you do, the rewards are great beyond measure. For every bit of added beauty, there is fresh gladness, new enchantment, honest pride. For every improvement, there are new leisure hours to spend as you like best. Never forget it . . . when your home comes first, your family comes first.

And as you build, as you add to or improve your home, you are forging the future . . . secure, happy, filled with warmth and beauty.

So make this future your dream—cherish it—do something about it. Do it now. Pick up a "home" magazine and let its pages spark your planning. Visit the nearest good store, see their displays—let them help you work out your ambitions.

Give something to your home . . . and get more out of living!

A-Bomb May Start Undersea Explosion

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS, March 28 (AP)—Whether the Pacific ocean, or a large portion of it, might explode if an atomic bomb is set off in the Bikini atoll area this summer was discussed privately today by scientists attending the meeting of the American Ass'n for the Advancement of Science.

Conclusion was that the chain reaction of water exploding might start, but would not continue, probably not even add visibly to the violence of the underwater explosion. The discussions were based on Washington reports that a second atomic explosion might be under the water instead of on the surface as originally planned.

There have been published reports that an explosion under water would separate the water into its elements, hydrogen and oxygen, and start a chain reaction in the water itself.

As every one knows, water boils to steam at 212 degrees; as few people know, it turns into steam without boiling at a little over 3000 degrees; and, as almost no one has heard, around 20,000 degrees water is converted into hydrogen and oxygen at the rate of two to one.

Heat of the atomic bomb is millions of degrees.

It is expected by scientists there will be some conversion of this sort in an underwater explosion. Furthermore, the hydrogen is likely to explode because of the large amount of oxygen created along with it. This is the start of a chain reaction.

But the reaction is not expected to continue because when hydrogen explodes it does not create the great heat that will continue to turn more water into hydrogen and oxygen.

Only the bomb is that hot, and bomb heat lasts only a very short time.

Move for Mrs. F. D. To Rule Refugees

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J, March 28 (AP)—A move to place Eleanor Roosevelt at the head of an international organization for handling the problems of political exiles and war-scattered refugees gathered force today among delegates from 48 nations attending UNRRA's council meeting.

Action, however, seemed likely to await the time when the problems of displaced persons are turned over to the United Nations.

Rolling Homes Help

Trailer Output Aids House Shortage

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—Factories are rolling as many trailers as they can to the rescue of hapless home hunters. These houses on wheels are earmarked especially for veterans, salesmen, showmen, construction workers.

"Our present production, due to scarcity of materials, is about 15,000 a year," reports President Harry L. Bartholomew of the Trailer Coach Manufacturers Ass'n. Given the materials, we could produce 100,000 a year."

Prices and types range from $1000 to $3000, but several of the lad yacht variety run well into five-figure luxury.

Typical vehicles in the $2000-$3000 category have overall lengths of 22 to 28 feet, three connecting rooms and sleeping accommodations for four.

The bed chamber has a double bed, mirrored dressing table, shelves for boks and radio. The kitchen is furnished with a stove using bottled gas, refrigerator, stainless steel or enameled sink, food and dish cabinet, a dining table.

The living room contains a studio couch, dropleaf table, book shelves, a couple of chairs. Other features include an oil heater, fluorescent lighting, Venetian blinds and closets.

More expensive models are 35 to 38 feet long, have hot and cold water, shower, toilet and lavatory, parlors finished in mahogany and chiming doorbells. One has a fireplace, another an air-conditioning unit.

There is a double-deck model for large families. The second story, raised and lowered by hydraulic jacks, telescopes into the lower section when the roving home is on the road. On the move, it's 10 feet, 10 inches high. When parked, it's 15 feet, 3 inches high. Eight persons can sleep in it—six in the three bedrooms upstairs, two downstairs. A staircase connects the two levels.

Democrats in Capital To Hold Love Feast

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—Democrats in both legislative and executive branches get together tonight at the first of five "goodwill" suppers in an effort to smooth intra-party rough spots.

Ten or 12 senators and about 15 House members were invited to tonight's supper along with Navy Secretary Forrestal, OPA Chief Paul Porter, Reconversion Director John W. Snuder, Housing Boss Wilson W. Wyatt, Mathey Connelly, Truman's secretary, and Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster-general.

Home Hunters Hound Wives Europe-Bound

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—House hunters are deluging 59 Washington wives, who will soon join their Army husbands overseas, with calls begging to buy, borrow or lease their homes. The wives said their telephones began ringing soon after their names appeared in newspaper lists yesterday.

Virtually all had disposed of their homes long ago, they reported. A few cautious ones said the housing shortage is too acute to take chances, so they won't rent until the day they step aboard ship.

GIRL, 4, BEATEN TO DEATH

THE SURPLUS MUDDLE

MEMBERS of the War Investigating Committee of the United States Senate have reported to their colleagues that the surplus property disposal program has fallen into such a "confused muddle" that American taxpayers stand to lose as much as $27,500,000,000 in the final accounting.

The major part of this prospective and gigantic loss is attributable, as the committee members report, to unused Lend-Lease material and surplus goods remaining abroad after the end of the war.

But a substantial part of the loss is also attributable to HOARDING BY GOVERNMENT AGENCIES of critical goods within the United States.

The Army and Navy appear to be the particular OFFENDERS in this aspect of the situation.

Building interests, for instance, have encountered insurmountable difficulties in obtaining basic building materials which the armed forces seem to have in ABUNDANCE.

The Army, as an example, is reported to have 205,000 pounds of nails at an Ogden, Utah, depot—and the current shortage of nails is "among the most critical" of the many shortages obstructing the postwar building program.

The same obstructive situation, resulting from governmental hoarding, prevails with respect to other equally vital materials.

Houses are standing uncompleted while bathtubs and fixtures are idle in government warehouses.

Millions of board feet of lumber are reported ROTTING in a government stock pile.

The program of surplus property disposal, both at home and abroad, is surely in a "muddle" and is obstructing the postwar program for the construction of vitally needed homes—and is burdening American taxpayers with new and vast and wholly unnecessary debts.

HARMFUL SCHEME

A NEW ATTEMPT is being made in the Massachusetts Legislature to prohibit the advertising of eyeglasses, lenses and frames.

Proponents of the monopolistic scheme would even ban showcase and window displays.

The results of such bad legislation are not hard to imagine.

Persons needing eyeglasses would have no way of knowing what was newest and best.

They would have to take anything that happened to be available.

Progress would be stifled, since there would be no incentive to improve the quality of materials and designs.

And thousands of men and women and especially young people would forego aids to vision rather than risk having their appearance marred by ugly "glasses" that would make them look like something that stepped out of a daguerreotype.

Free private enterprise has been wholly responsible for the marvelous achievements in American optometry.

Let us in Massachusetts be sufficiently grateful to protect and perpetuate it.

A GOOD START

BOSTON, the nearest American city to Europe, will soon be able to send cable messages to that continent as cheaply as New York City, which is more than 300 miles further away from London and Paris.

The notable victory climaxed a long fight by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and other important organizations, against discrimination.

Obviously it pays to protest, and Bostonians and New Englanders should do it more often—especially when they are taxed excessively by the New Deal government for Southern and Midwestern projects which are more harmful than beneficial to New England.

ABOVE IS an excerpt from one of my mother's favorite poems . . . "Why devote so much space to dogs? Couldn't you spare a line or two for cats?" asks a New Yorker. This seems a reasonable request. Ever hear of a cat who ate oysters? That was the favorite food of a cat named Hodge owned by the great lexicographer, Dr. Samuel Johnson. Boswell, in his "Life of Johnson," wrote: "I shall never forget the indulgence with which Dr. Johnson treated Hodge, his cat, for whom he himself used to go out and buy oysters lest the servants, having that trouble, take a dislike to the poor creature."

STOGIE DEPARTMENT: Addressed simply "E. V. Durling, Brooklyn, N. Y.," Bob New of Los Angeles sent the following wire: "George Grantham played first base, not second as you said. Stogie, please." The telegram was forwarded from our office with the following notation added: "Dear Ed: This wire was received by mistake by the Brooklyn Dodgers who forwarded it here. The Dodgers say Mr. New is right. They also demand stogies. Signed—Jerry Dreyer." So now the Brooklyn Dodgers are trying to win stogies from me. Am I outclassed? Or am I? Anyway, while I will concede Grantham did play first base for Pittsburgh for a period, I claim he also played second base.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Where was the first Lager beer brewed in this country, in Milwaukee or Cincinnati? A—The first Lager beer made in the U. S. A. was produced in 1842 in New York city by a brewer named Schaefer . . . Q—So you say even very tall girls have a chance for a stage career. I am six feet one in my high heels, but nevertheless said to be not too difficult to look at. How can I get on the stage? A—Apply to Billy Rose, Diamond Horseshoe, New York city. Mr. Rose specializes in featuring lengthy ladies of the ensemble . . . Q—Who has succeeded Adolphe Menjou as the best dressed man in Hollywood? A—Couldn't say, exactly. But the title probably belongs to one of the following: Fred Astaire, Gary Cooper, Clifton Webb or Cary Grant.

UNUSUAL OCCUPATIONS: Among the unusual occupations of readers of this column is that of a San Franciscan. He is a Marine lookout. From sunrise to sunset he sits on a hill overlooking the Golden Gate and, with the aid of a telescope, checks on the arrival of all ships entering the port. About three years ago I had a reader in Florida who made a living wrestling alligators but I haven't heard from him lately.

A PITTSBURGHER ASKS: "Just exactly what did Gene Tunney say in his prediction of the result of the Louis-Conn fight?" On Feb. 5, 1946, when interviewed by reporters at Miami, Fla., Tunney said: "I believe Joe Louis will knock Billy Conn out whenever he pleases."

ON THE TELEPHONE: In the United States at present there are in use more than 20,000 telephone recorders. It is not possible, of course, for one making a call to know whether or not the person being called has a recorder in action. So be careful what you say over the telephone. Think back on some of your recent telephone calls. Would it be embarrassing to you if they were recorded and played over to strangers?

HISTORICAL NOTE: According to a contemporary historian, Gen. George Washington during the Revolutionary War was dining when a large dog appeared at the door of his tent. The dog was obviously hungry. Examination of the animal's collar revealed it to be the dog of the British Gen. Howe. Washington ordered the dog to be well fed and returned to the enemy lines under a flag of truce. For this "gracious action" Washington received "a very grateful" letter from Gen. Howe.

"I'm SO glad we got him that billiard table to take his mind off golf, finally!"

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1946, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

RECENT REPORTS from Moscow that the Uniates of the Ukraine and "Ruthenia," at a council at Lwow (Lemberg), had decided to erase their affiliations with the Vatican and return to "Mother Russia" caused not a little surprise.

The Uniates are a Byzantine rite which recognizes the ecclesiastical authority of the Vatican. There are five parent groups in the Eastern Rites that the Roman Catholic Church recognizes although they do not follow the Latin mass.

Their services, for instance, are in languages other than Latin and their priests may be married; other differences are too technically theological to be dealt with in this column.

An essential difference between all Eastern churches, including those not affiliated with Rome, and Roman Catholicism is that Eastern Christianity tended from the very beginning to be localistic and nationalistic, whereas Rome, functioning within the atmosphere, if not the reality, of the Roman Empire, took on the characteristic of universalism.

Thus, while it is impossible to speak with accuracy of an Italian or Spanish or Irish or American Roman Catholic Church, it is correct to speak of a Greek Orthodox church or a Russian Orthodox church or of an Armenian church.

IN RUSSIA, the Orthodox church has since Peter the Great been an arm of the government, controlled by the government through the Holy Synod, at the head of which was a layman, the procurator, appointed by the Czar.

For instance, the Procurator Pobiedonostzev was easily one of the most unchristian officials of a Christian church.

Under this system, the church became a political arm of government, even committing crimes against the people, rather than a moral and ethical force.

The ease with which it was possible for the Society of the Godless (Bezbozniki) to win adherents in Soviet Russia for the Marxian slogan that religion is an opiate for the people was beyond doubt the product of this political character of the Holy Synod of the Russian Orthodox church.

Christianity, which originated among the Jews in Palestine, early became a part of the Greek world. Whereas the language of Christ and most of the apostles was Hebrew and Aramaic, the New Testament was actually written in Greek.

IN THE PROSELYTIZING of Europe for Christianity, Constantinople was as active as Rome, but in the West, for many reasons, the trend was toward unity of authority, while in the East, each diocese tended to become separate.

Thus, many Eastern churches arose. In 1054, the churches of the East and the West parted company.

This schism of 1054, while in appearance religious, represented in reality vast psychological and historical differences between the peoples of Eastern and Western Europe and motivates today the political and social struggle between Eastern and Western Europe.

It produced two different basic cultures, one in which liberty for the individual is possible; the other, in which the individual remains a serf to the state.

Since 1054, many efforts have been made to achieve a union between Rome and the Eastern churches. These failed, except in the instances of those Eastern churches which, while retaining their traditional rites, returned to the central body of Western Christianity.

In 1596, the bishops of the Ukrainians, Lithuanians, and White Russians, meeting at Brest-Litovsk, determined to reassociate themselves with Rome.

IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES, Roman, Eastern or Uniate, only the bishops can decide such a question as affiliation with Rome or with the Soviet successor to the procurator of the Holy Synod.

But most Uniate bishops in Russian territory have either been killed or are in prison. For instance, Metropolitan Joseph Slipiy of Lwow died in prison, it is reported; whether his auxiliary Bishop Budka is alive is not known.

And so it goes. The return to "Mother Russia" is another instance of the church being used to control the political rather than the religious life of a people.

Westbrook Pegler Is Now on Vacation

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 28—All I can say is that David Selznick can pat himself on the back this bright spring morning for a good day's job well done—for David has signed nobody else but Mervyn Le Roy to direct "Little Women."

Jennifer Jones

That's unexpected news, for everyone thought Mervyn's next would be either the long delayed "The Robe," for Frank Ross, or "The Fountainhead" at Warners. And he's still going to make both of these pictures — his contract with David just precedes them.

Usually, when I write about how directors handle actors, I have to take a player's word for it. But I had a brief stint with Mervyn, myself, in "Without Reservations," and I can say from first-hand knowledge that he can make a wooden Indian emote—or even a lady columnist! Shirley Temple and Jennifer Jones are already set for "Little Women," but first Merv goes to New York, where he will talk to top stage stars for roles in Louisa M. Alcott's famous classic.

ANN SOTHERN wants to go to work right away and so her next picture, "Bunco Maisie," which wasn't scheduled to start until the end of April, rolls next week at M-G-M. I know that work is one of the best antidotes in the world for worry and heartache—and believe me Ann is almost ill from her separation from Robert Sterling, even though they had been quarreling. It's the way he left her that hit her so hard—just packing up his clothes and moving out while she was appearing on a radio show. In "Bunco Maisie" she'll play a lady detective who exposes a gang of racketeers. That should provide some excitement and not give Maisie too much time to brood.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION is going to bring back "Bulldog Drummond," which Sam Goldwyn made with Ronald Colman. Edward Small, who owns the rights, has turned the property over to his son, Buddy. Buddy with Jesse Lasky, Jr. and Louis Appleton, both of whom served with him in the Army, will bring this entertaining yarn to the screen. Young Jesse will write the script and the picture will be released through Columbia. I am almost afraid to say this. If I'm wrong, correct me—and Columbia always does!

WHAT DO YOU KNOW—even the Goldwyn girls can't get nylons—even as you and I, Minnie! Goldwyn has outfitted his famous belles with hats, bags, gloves, evening gowns, play clothes and everything they will need for their trip to New York for the opening of "The Kid From Brooklyn"—but even Sam can't produce the nylons. One of the girls came up with an idea. "The bachelors seem to have more nylons than anybody else," she said. "They use them for bait for dates." So that gave somebody a bright idea. If you are a bachelor and you mail a pair of nylons to a Goldwyn girl, she'll personally thank you with a telephone date—and from there on you're on your own. All right, boys, here's your chance to prove you are not all wolf—and a yard wide.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD. George Raft, who usually goes for blondes, surprised the natives by showing up at Ciro's with the brunette and luscious Cleatus Caldwell, the ex-Mrs. Ken Murray. Cleatus is certainly Hollywood's "wealthy widow" since it came out that Ken is paying her $3100 a month alimony and there was a little matter of $22,000 in bonds involved in their divorce settlement. Also, she can live in the new house he has just bought in Hollywood if she wants to! Now for the $64 question: Do comedians make the best ex-husbands?

I TALKED with Paul Douglas and Virginia Field over the long distance telephone. Virginia has just gone back to visit handsome Paul, and they are happier than ever, which is good news. They plan to go to London to co-star in "Born Yesterday," the play in which he made such a success on Broadway, and later the movie will be made as an independent venture, with Paul of course, in the role he created on the stage.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Harry Warren's daughter, Joan Warren Hoffman, is marrying Johnny Hacker of the M-G-M music department: that pretty newcomer on the M-G-M lot, who has been getting lots of publicity (maybe too much) knocked her director cold the other day when she said: "I felt that scene. You may print that one!" Freddie De Cordova thinks Martha Vickers is delovely; the William Wylers are expecting their baby any day and they hope it will be a boy. They have two girls; Kathleen ("Forever Amber") Winsor has given up all thoughts of a movie career at 20th because she's writing a new book in the East; hear that Clark Gable has bought a motorcycle agency—which won't set too well with M-G-M where Keenan Wynn, Bob Walker and Van Johnson are all "grounded" from cycles.

HELMUT DANTINE at long last is in Vienna. He's doing a special job for Look magazine, and while there will try to arrange to bring his mother back here; Donald Friede, after having been married five times, has welcomed his first child. His wife is Mary Frances Kennedy Fisher Friede and the baby will be called Kennedy; the Rex Harrisons have sold their London house to actor John Mills and are apparently here for a long stay. If he is as good in "Anna and the King of Siam" as he has been in his English pictures, Hollywood will never, never let him go; hear Warners have taken an option on Ida Lupino's musical, "Apple Tree Farm" for a movie. It's all ready for its Santa Barbara tryout. That's all today.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, March 28—The Russian delegation to the United Nations Security Council has been driving the management of New York's Plaza Hotel to the verge of tears.

Mrs. James Farley

The Plaza is quite a high - toned hostelry and has many phobias, including a dislike for the odor of cooking cabbage in its corridors.

But the Soviet security councilors, who are here ostensibly in efforts to make everyone feel secure, are so afraid of being poisoned they have demanded permission to cook and prepare all their food in their own rooms!

ONE OF THE MOST outspoken ladies of our time is Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of the former Postmaster General. At a session in New York the other evening she disclosed that Mr. Farley is in Europe attending the war crimes trials.

"He is just a spectator," she said, and added: "Humph! It is not my idea of fun!"

I asked the lady if her husband had given up ideas of running for governor of New York.

"He certainly has," she replied. "I put my foot down on that. I positively refuse to live in Albany."

We went to a high-class place called the Versailles. The doorman looked dubious when he saw me but Mrs. Farley swept him aside imperiously.

"This is a democracy," she said, "and you must let in the riff-raff, too."

It was opening night for Mr. Carl Brisson, the celebrated singer who has done about everything in the world, including fighting Georges Carpentier and being the father-in-law of Rosalind Russell of the movies. He also went around once with Greta Garbo—and five rounds with Carpentier.

Mr. Brisson's wife and helpmate, Cleo, came over wearing the biggest orchid I have ever seen. It is a good thing she is not thin-chested or her approach would have looked like that scene from MacBeth where the forest seems to be advancing.

"I simply had to wear it," explained Mrs. Brisson, "because it is named after me. It is called a Cleo orchid."

Mrs. Farley surveyed the mammoth specimen and "humphed!" again.

"I hope they never name a potted palm after you," she added, "or you will be going around bowlegged."

I HAVE JUST received the following letter from Mrs. Frances L. Putnam of Clinton:

"I believe in making the punishment fit the crime, so I have dreamed up the perfect retribution for John L. Lewis.

"It seems Mr. Lewis is very ill and calls for a doctor. But the medico, when he arrives, says: 'First we will have to settle on my fee. I demand $100,000 a visit!'

"Mr. Lewis screams that this is robbery, but the doctor says: 'Let's look at it this way: You are the president of your union and you are making plenty of money. You can afford to pay your hirelings what they are worth—and right now I'm worth $100,000. Besides, I'm going to need it with the inflation and all.'

"Well, they send Mr. Lewis to the hospital for transfusions. Only transfusions will keep him alive. This is where I come in because I am the laboratory technician.

"So I say to Mr. Lewis: 'Look, the laboratory technicians are on strike—as of now. We've been working for pretty poor wages while other people have been getting big money in defense jobs. We thought that would end with the war, but when they strike now for higher wages we can't take it any more.

"'So good-bye John—and I do mean good-bye.'"

REP. F. EDWARD HEBERT of Louisiana, who I fear is not one of our more ardent anglophiles, called up the other day and said he had a very sound and practical idea.

"You will remember," he said, "that during the war we gave the British 50 destroyers in return for the right to negotiate leases for bases. Not the right to the bases mind—just the right to negotiate.

"Well, how about asking Britain to give us the bases in perpetuity in return for the right to negotiate a loan?"

Boston After Dark

PERHAPS the East Boston airport transportation controversy has been settled without further ado . . . From a source we must respect, this column hears that a U-Drive-It agency has been granted a concesssion to operate from headquarters at, or very near, the air terminal.

THE IMPULSIVE SON of a famous Boston restaurateur took a swing at a wealthy and famous hotel owner the other eventide, and missed . . . The lad was ejected but there was no arrest—contrary to rumor.

BERT WHEELER, the little chap who has been a theater comic of first rank longer than anyone else in the business except Eddie Cantor, opens at "Slapsie Maxie" Rosenbloom's Los Angeles night club April 8, and "Slapsie Maxie"—whose wife did not like the gilded-saloon business and persuaded Max to sell his interest in the California mint—will be playing 3000 miles east of the spot he founded—as a comedian.

THE BALINESE ROOM is equipped with thousands of dollars in lighting fixtures and effects that will never be used under the present policy of dance music (the best) and good food . . . And the drawing power shown thus far by Ranny Weeks and his very smooth orchestra would seem to warrant that there will be no change of policy for a long time to come . . . Last night's score at the Somerset's beautiful new "class" supper room was 195 (customers) for dinner, and 103 for supper . . . The room holds fewer than 200 patrons, being of the intime genre . . . The bass player in the Weeks band, by the way, is a brother of Vaughn Monroe.

THE LICENSING BOARD'S action in suspending the entertainment license of the Bradford Roof works hardship on the talented Bernard Brothers (not to mention the hotel's management and some 50 or 60 employes, including 30 or 40 veterans of World War II) . . . Of course, no such objective was the purpose of the very fair and judicial Mary Driscoll, chief of the licensing board, when she curtailed the Bradford's entertainment permits because of the songs and antics of Jayne Manners, a diseuse (so-called) . . . Miss Driscoll's reputation and character place her above any charges of injustice or partiality . . . In a politics-ridden community, the lady who runs the licensing board has kept her skirts clear of dust or dirt . . . She has called them as she has seen them, consistently.

RALPH W. SNIDER, boss of the Bradford, is a veteran in show business, and would not wittingly have breached the statutes in providing entertainment for his night club atop the hotel . . . A millionaire (at least once), Mr. Snider doesn't need money that badly, and if he did, he wouldn't extend himself to the extreme of wittingly staging a dirty show in order to make money . . . The Bernard Brothers were just getting Boston recognition as a star act in the cabaret circuit . . . Now their Boston showcase is curtained, and it may be two or three years before they return . . . Their booking schedule is filled for months . . . Great favorites in Chicago, they also hold a record of 18 straight weeks in a Los Angeles major night club . . . We seldom have heard such solid laughter as their act evoked last night.

UNTIL WE SAW THEM dining together at the Villa Nova, we had forgotten that one had been the attorney who negotiated the sale of the other's contract when the second man was reaching the top as middleweight champion of the world . . . The attorney was Frank Juggins, and the fighter was Johnny Wilson . . . In answer to the cliche "It's a small world," here's an exception . . . Your reporter who has known them both for a long, long time—had not happened to see Atty. Juggins and Johnny Wilson together in 24 years . . . Yet they have been friends throughout that quarter century . . . So have we all three for that matter.

NEW YORK, March 28—Broadwayites who adore them both hope the wild rumors about the Garson Kanins (Ruth Gordon) are grossly exaggerated. They've been on the road with "Miss Jones," which she wrote and directed . . . A motion picture actress, now awaiting a baby, was slugged in public by her non-acting husband down in the Bowery Saturday night . . . Maria Jeritza will sue a local agent for submitting her without her authorization . . . America's most famous gambler is now "without portfolio" — meaning broke . . . Mae West purchased $500,000 worth of real estate in L. A. the other day, just like that . . . The FBI is keeping an eye on Sam Wood, the movie director, who has received letters threatening his life . . . Marie McDonnell, the smoothie of "Three to Make Ready," is sniffing orange blossoms with Remy Martel, the "Oklahoma!" dancer . . . Chicago is so full of divorce cases the judges will sit during the summer holidays to clear their calendars.

THE PLAN for food rationing is definitely in the ashcan . . . Toots Shor hopes to tear down the next door building to double the size of his chop house in September . . . The OPA is looking askance at hotels which have allotted movie companies whole floors of rooms by the year . . . The Lee Omas (he's the well-known prize fighter) are preparing to welcome a tiny Oma to their home . . . Milton Berle hit a rude gent with his fist at the Carnival bar Sunday a. m. . . . The reconciliation between the Sammy Sokols (Barbara Evans) doesn't seem to be working out . . . David Street is reported promising he won't give Lois Andrews that divorce until she hands over the same amount of money he gave his previous wife for an unlinking . . . The entire detective force is vying for the juicy job of guarding Billy Conn during his training period . . . The ballet girls at the Metropolitan now have that bed they needed so badly in their dressing room for resting between rehearsals and performances . . . Because she hates hats and never wears one, but couldn't resist having one made for the Easter parade, Jovita, the luscious copper-tressed Spanish singer at Coq Rouge, may be responsible for reviving an old trend. Jovita will stay true to her "never had one on my head" policy by wearing her dreamy picture hat dangling down her back with heavy satin ribbons around her neck keeping the chapeau anchored . . . A character around town is trying to sell Audrey Totter the idea of changing her first name to Teeter.

BLAND OR BOTHERED?—Take your choice of entertainment. Jimmy Dorsey and his star musical organization are at the RKO Boston and Anna Lee, prettily terrified, is to be seen in "Hangmen Also Die," on the Old South and Tremont screens.

Marx Brothers Hot at Laffmovie

Laffmovie is presently living up to its name with the Marx Brothers' film attraction, "Monkey Business," one of this frenetic foursome's funniest comedies. S. J. Perelman, their friend and famous comedy writer, scripted this one.

Other program items are the comedy short, "You Drive Me Crazy," with Edgar Kennedy; the Shemp Howard-featured short, "A Hit with a Miss"; Donald Duck in "Cured Duck" and "Fresh Airdale," a Merrie Melody Technicolor cartoon.

3 Strangers at Parfen

"Three Strangers," teaming Warners' blood-curdling Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre with the lovely Geraldine Fitzgerald, is to have its initial local showings on the Paramount and Fenway screens today.

This is a melodrama of murder and intrigue, based on John Huston's original story and stemming from man's belief in the supernatural. It is the tale of the partnership of three strangers, each desperately desirous of riches and each possessed of a fanatical dependence on the unearthly powers of a golden Chinese goddess.

Jean Negulesco directed "Three Strangers," which has a supporting cast headed by Joan Loring and Rosalind Ives.

On the same bill is "Live Wires," latest Bowery Boys' cinematic escapade. It stars Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Bobby Jordan and William Benedict.

32D YEAR AS MAGICIAN

Blackstone, world-famous magician, observes his 32d anniversary as an illusionist and sleight-of-hand expert with his three-week appearance at the Colonial Theater, beginning Monday night, April 15.

Japs See Us Giving Them Motor Age

TOKYO, March 28 (AP)—Jap soldiers, who had to go to war to discover that the oxcart was outmooded, expect great things of the American occupation of their homeland.

Troops in Australian prison camps envision a golden era of motor cars and machinery under U. S. occupation.

ENGLISH HIGH '16 REUNION

Headmaster Walter F. Downey of English High School, former state commissioner of education, will address the 30th annual reunion of English High's Class of 1916 tonight at the Parker House.

Smart Set

By BETTY DEN

For the Streamlined

PINEAPPLE SUNDAES and baked potatoes are being passed by many a fashionable lady who attended the fashion luncheon at the Balinese Room of The Somerset yesterday. Her bathing suits were featured in the show and they are bolder than ever, definitely designed for streamlined Venuses.

The Southern influence in the brilliant colors of play suits, pedal pushers, backless gowns and splashy prints for summer garden parties, was particularly enjoyed by Mrs. Gardner Shattuck and Mrs. Richard Hart, prominent members of the American Society, who moved together.

In a gay note for smart spring styles, honors were divided by Mrs. Harold Kern who wore a navy blue and tailored suit. Silver fox furs and pale gloves to match her fetching half hat of pale Mayflower blue. She was with Mrs. James Murley who wore black faille silk had large gilt buttons and bows topped by a fluted black maline halo hat sprinkled with gold sequins.

Mrs. Charles Curran

Mrs. Robert Montgomery lunched in a party with Mrs. John Sargent who wore royal blue with black accessories. Mrs. Richard Ely, Mrs. Charles Curran in a modish beige suit with brown beanie and furs, Gioia Griess in navy blue, and Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French entertaining her sub-deb granddaughter, Janet Gutterson, and Betty Luster dancing star of a musical now playing in Boston, were others enjoying the show.

Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard of Newton Centre and Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen of Waban combined business with pleasure at the fashion luncheon. Mrs. Kennard is chairman and Mrs. Allen publicity director for one of the Hub's gay springtime benefits, the annual Grenfell Night at the Pops April 30. This is the fourth season Mrs. Kennard and her group have chosen Pops opening night to raise funds for the work of the Grenfell Mission in providing modern medical aid for the people of Labrador.

Mrs. C. Terry Collens is ticket chairman, Mrs. Robert S. Hurlbut, invitations, and others on the committee are Mrs. William Bullard, Mrs. Eldon Macleod, Mrs. Ludlow Griscom, Mrs. Theodore Badger, Mrs. Robert C. Terry and Mrs. A. W. K. Billings, Jr.

Mrs. Kennard and Mrs. Allen were accompanied at luncheon by Mrs. Paul Breadell of Waban in a modish black and white silk suit with white flower hat, Mrs. Wellington Wells, Jr., and daughter, Betsy.

A DISTINGUISHED audience will pack the Opera House Tuesday evening, April 9, for the Metropolitan's production of "Die Meistersingers," which will feature Boston's own Eleanor Steber, Metropolitan star who graduated from the N. E. Conservatory in 1938.

Members of the socially prominent audience will include Mr. Charles F. Ayer and his bride of several weeks, the former Anne Phillips; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ayer, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, Mrs. Wallace Murdoch Campbell, Mrs. Clement Houghton, Mrs. A. Winsor Weld, Mrs. Edward Thaw, H. Wendell Endicott, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman and many others.

SKI FANS are looking forward to the showing of John Jay's color ski film, "Hickory Holiday," Saturday evening at Belmont High School. The affair is sponsored by the Eliot Guild, First Church in Belmont, which also presented Mr. Jay's two earlier films. The new one shows exciting and scenic shots in the Colorado Rockies.

Algerian Silhouette — Ben Reig

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

"CHIC" MAY BE an overworked, overplayed fashion word . . . but this Spring no other word so descriptively fits the clothes menu served on the Spring, 1946, platter. This season, girls will sit and look pretty in their clothes . . . clothes reflecting the new feeling of youth and freedom of motion with a touch of worldly smartness tossed in.

The definite trend of breaking away from the stern, rigid, tight look of yesteryear . . . when the concerned, war-worried look was sewn into every seam of feminine apparel . . . is here at long last. There's fullness above and below the waistline. And if this be fashion treason, let's make the most of it.

Ben Reig, the 10th of our "34 Designers Dress You For Spring" series is all for the new look and his Algerian silhouette with its belted billowy fullness reflects the designer's delight. He thinks it is the beginning of a new future silhouette.

If your costume stresses femininity, ease and lightness . . . you, Milady, are the fashion harbinger of this new season.

(Tomorrow's Designer: Samuel Kass)

SPRING'S important bolero suit is offered by Ben Reig in a different version . . . a combination of dress and jacket with a continental and troubadour insinuation. Caramel-tone wool makes the bolero and skirt . . . but its smooth top and jacket cuffs are of gray and brown striped surah. Fullness above and below the waistline hints of the new future silhouette in the easy swing of the skirt and the all-of-a-piece cut of the bolero.

THE SHORT jacket suit (at the extreme left) as Ben Reig shows it for spring is in sheer black wool with an eggshell-colored cotton blouse plaided in black and edged with fluting. The skirt is full and ample for a feeling of youth and freedom of motion . . . and the sleeves of the jacket are cut in one with the shoulders . . . although newly and tightly cuffed. The throat-hugging high neckline and the whittled waistline are Spring's newest features.

NEW fullness, above and below the waistline, is easily the most exciting feature of Spring, 1946 styles. I call it the Algerian silhouette and like to see it belted tightly and smoothly with leather, stitched by day and jewelled by night.

Clothes are completely feminine and diversified. Jackets are spotlighted. They are boxy, or fitted and either long or short, or cut into boleros. All are worn with different skirts. Sleeves and shoulders are full and rounded as are hiplines.

Necklines have taken a definite trend. They are either very low or high in front and slashed down the back. I like the new low waistlines and beltless torso styles.

Stripes are becoming to most women. I like black and white bengaline for suits and dresses.

Ben Reig

34 Designers Dress You for Spring

SADDLE-BAG pockets add to the rounded hipline look of this Ben Reig costume . . . combining a fitted tunic-length coat and a one-piece dress that features a black and white plaid cotton top. This spring it is chic to wear the blouse bow outside the suit-coat and show the sleeves beyond the turned-back cuffs. This four-button tunic-length jacket hugs the figure snugly and is admirable for the tall, slim girl who is justly proud of her willowy litheness.

Cheese Flavors Blend With Most Kinds of Food

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

WAKE UP JADED APPETITES during the Lenten season by serving a variety of unusual and savory dishes which include full-flavored American-made cheese. Cheese is a versatile food with a wide variety of flavors that blend well with nearly any kind of food. A full-bodied Cheddar, better known as American, is ideal for cheese sauces, escalloped or au gratin dishes.

This new version of creole shrimp is served with carefully cooked rice to which golden, freshly grated cheese has been added.

CHEESE RICE WITH CREOLE SHRIMP

1 cup grated cheese
4 cups cooked rice
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup diced celery
1 small garlic clove, minced (optional)
3 tbsp. butter or meat drippings
1 tsp. flour
1tsp. sugar
½ tsp. chili powder
½ cup diced green pepper
2½ cups cooked tomatoes
1 tbsp. lemon juice
2 cups cooked shrimp

Cook onions, celery and garlic in butter until tender. Add flour, salt, sugar and chili powder. Add green pepper. Stir in tomatoes and lemon juice and cook about 10 minutes over low heat. Add cleaned shrimp and heat thoroughly. Meanwhile blend grated cheese with hot, cooked rice and place in a buttered casserole, leaving the center to be filled with Creole shrimp. Arrange shrimp mixture in center; sprinkle with grated cheese and place under broiler until cheese melts. Makes 6 servings.

BAKED MACARONI AND CHEESE

1 pkg. macaroni
2 cups medium white sauce
1½ to 2 cups grated cheese
½ cup bread crumbs, buttered

Boil macaroni; put in greased casserole in alternate layers with sauce and grated cheese. Pour white sauce over top and cover with buttered crumbs; bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 to 25 minutes, or until crumbs are browned.

Would Invite Boy to Hayride

I AM a girl of 16, a junior in high school.

There is a very nice respectable boy that I would like to invite to a hayride, but don't know how to go about it, as I have never been introduced to him.

Would it be wrong for me to ask him? If not, how should I go about it? F. M.

If this boy is one of your schoolmates, isn't there someone you both know who could introduce you? Or if he's just one of the boys in town, perhaps you have a mutual friend who could bring about a meeting. Do your mothers, by any chance, know each other?

If none of the conventional ways of making his acquaintance seem to be possible, I think it would be quite all right for you to write him a little note, telling him that a group of you are going on a hayride and would like him to join you. After all, there's much more leeway in such things these days than there used to be, and it's not considered out of the way for a girl to be the one to issue an invitation to a boy occasionally.

Weekly Facial at Home Is Answer to Crowsfeet

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

IF YOU MANAGE to get sufficient beauty rest and sleep and surcease from cares and concerns, you're a wonder gal . . . one in a thousand and our hat is off to you. Most of us are pretty tuckered out after a day's work or shopping or completion of a busy calendar . . . and when we are vis-a-vis in the mirror . . . it's an all-too-awful reflection. For there in that brutally, frank reflector of our moods and moves . . . we find those inescapable traces of nervous tension.

Often we look at women who are great beauties or personalities and wonder how in the world they can look so young at their age. So, in false consolation we say: "Well if I had the money to afford expensive facials and the time to give to my beauty, maybe I wouldn't have crowsfeet and lines in my face."

Such grumbling won't get you anywhere . . . but a weekly facial with a French-pink cream mask will . . . and you won't have to spend $5 in an expensive salon to achieve it. You can buy a jar containing many facials for much less . . . a mask which will rouse circulation, tighten up the skin and give you the same lovely feeling that you'd get in the salon.

And it takes only 8 minutes. Imagine such 8-minute magic. Can't you spare it? This mask hardens on your face into a tautening film . . . only a tautening film has the efficacy to erase little lines and clarify the skin of surface gremlins . . .

For the name of this 8-minute facial fortune mask, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

GOP in Blast At Housing Plan

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP) — The Administration applied fresh pressure today for its homes-for-veterans program but ran into a Republican contention that part of it is a pork barrel scheme.

Civilian Production Chief John D. Small was the day's chief witness before Senate banking committee hearings on legislation designed to make possible 2,700,000 new homes by the end of next year.

Even before Small appeared to renew pleas for a $600,000,000 subsidy fund to boost production of scarce materials, however, Sen. Capehart (R.) of Indiana voiced his pork barrel charge.

He referred, he told reporters, to Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt's plans for the government to guarantee markets for prefabricated dwellings and construction materials.

"I'll fight these prefabricated houses and subsidy of new materials until hell freezes over," Capehart said. "They would benefit a few concerns at government expense."

Under the Wyatt program, the government would undertake to purchase a certain number of prefabricated houses from each builder who demanded assurance that there would be a market for his full production. The government, in turn, would act as sales agent.

Opposition to building materials subsidies also was voiced by Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice-president of the National Ass'n of Real Estate Boards.

He said in a radio address that the nation "is fumbling with the simple job of building homes because it is held back by power-hungry men in Washington."

In Congress, Sen. Wiley (R.) of Wisconsin, blasted at the Civilian Production Administration's new order which sharply restricts virtually all new construction except veterans' housing.

The CPA regulation, Wiley told his colleagues, "is one more monkey wrench thrown by the administration at free enterprise."

Safety Council Sees 38,000 Traffic Toll

CHICAGO, March 28 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths in February totaled 2450, a 45 per cent increase over the same month a year ago and only 7 per cent below traffic's deadliest February in 1941, the National Safety Council said today.

The Council stood pat on its prediction of a near-record toll of 38,000 traffic deaths in 1946 "unless the drivers and pedestrians decide to do something about it."

Horseless Carriage Ride Of Old Leads to Altar in '46

Romance that blossomed during a dash through the countryside in a horseless carriage, an escapade that left Smith College authorities breathless, was headed today for culmination in marriage after an intermission of 30 years.

Mrs. Sera McConnell, wealthy Northampton widow, now 48, planned to be married in Brookline to Actor James Rennie, 55, star of "State of the Union."

The actor and his bride-to-be first met while she was a student at Northampton and he was playing there. They were introduced by members of the McConnell family who were friends of Rennie.

A friendship developed and one day nearly 30 years ago Rennie, taking leave of the grease paint, invited the then Smith student for a ride around the college grounds. Without asking permission of the dean the pair climbed into the actor's machine and drove, as they described it last night at Rennie's Ritz Carlton suite, "quite a bit out of bounds."

On her return she was summarily dismissed, never to resume her studies at the college. Rennie intervened but before he could give his arguments the weight he sought, his company left on an extended tour.

Later he married Dorothy Gish, film and stage luminary, and the expelled student became the bride of Hugh McConnell, wealthy manufacturer, who died in New York several years ago.

During the intervening years the pair corresponded occasionally and whenever the actor reached Boston or nearby cities Mr. and Mrs. McConnell were frequently among his audience. The actor and Miss Gish were divorced in 1935.

Following the death of McConnell, the pair began to see more of each other and yesterday they filed marriage intentions at the Northampton city clerk's office and obtained a waiver of the five-day law.

Mikado Seeks U. S. Governess for Son

TOKYO, March 28 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito wants an American woman English teacher to tutor Crown Prince Akihito.

Dr. George Stiddard, New York State education commissioner and head of the U. S. Education Mission to Japan, was asked yesterday to find such an instructor to come to Japan. Stoddard said he has no one in mind, but will receive a representative of the emperor tomorrow to discuss the request.

Trombonist Held On Girl's Charges

HOLLYWOOD, March 28 (INS) —Benny Benson, trombone player in Bob Crosby's orchestra, was arrested on five counts of statutory attack involving a 16-year-old bobby-soxer who tried to take her life in the balcony of the Palladium ballroom.

The girl, who told police Benson had picked her up on five occasions, swallowed 30 sleeping tablets after leaving a note for Benson denied the charges.

Why Our Oversea Soldier Needs USO More Than Ever

By AUSTEN LAKE

THE WRITER CRINGES from making money appeals in these tax-bullied times when Uncle Sugar has his hand in the citizen's pockets clear up to the elbow. Yet with your kind indulgence I will ask you to shower down for an essential cause.

Austen Lake

The United Services Organization—hereinafter referred to as USO, is beginning to display nudity between the pants of income and the shirt of expense. Which is fawncy langwidge for saying they need more mazulla to continue their job of morale lifting among our oversea soldiers. And as one who has just returned from Europe's witch pot, I say what our AEF Joes need most is MORALE. The USO is to the oversea soldier what nylon hose is to the feminine soul—a source of spiritual uplift.

Let us agree that war, with its separations from home, family and friends, was never any aid to morality and high ideals. It acts as a sordid blight which dims shining scruples. It gnaws the insulation of honor away from human nerves. It is the ne plus ultra of human folly.

The Problem Is Different

I TALKED WITH Col. Curtis Tiernan, senior chaplain of the Army at Frankfurt, a few weeks ago and, though no prude, he was genuinely alarmed at the moral breakdown of some of our resident soldiery. He said, "Trouble lies mostly with the attitude in America. People think the war is over. But actually it is raging more bitterly than ever. This is the war to secure the peace and if we lose that we drop everything we've gained."

I studied the freshman-type of soldiery now manning Germany and Italy. For the tough-fibered, stiff-spirited soldiers of the combat phase of the war have largely been replaced by stalk-green, post-adolescent, half-trained kids snatched from our schools. I do not mean to be unkind. It's not the kids' fault—just that political-minded Washington dropped its torch abruptly when the war ended and quit selecting competent, adult males, and the Army, high pressured into swift demobilization, hasn't had time to season the youngtsers. They're a plastic, susceptible lot to be set down in the world's most sinister chump-trap.

Said Col. Tiernan, "What the Army of Occupation needs is more occupation," meaning work, diversion and recreation. He thought they had far too much leisure in a land where a candy bar is regarded as a fair exchange for virtue. And he feared that a misguided sense of U. S. economy would scrap the USO when it was needed most. He said, now that the fighting phase is over, the men require supplies of magazines, books and newspapers, more sporting equipment, more touring road shows, more movies. Of course, magazines or a kootch show won't deter a genuinely mischief-bent soldier, but it will help salvage a wavering kid.

There are two forms of morale building in the Army. The first type was that used before D-day when southern England was a vast schoolroom for training men to fight and polishing them to a slick perfection by keeping them mentally and physically occupied to the last ounce of their beings for 10 hours a day and bringing 'em back weary.

Such things as the rain swept afternoon in Devon when I stood at a cross road and a column of combat engineers—reefered, helmeted and mittened—swung past to the platoon sergeant's chant, "Ugh ... tuh ... t'ree ... fo' ", a monotonous sing-song. The men kept their chins and eyes rigidly front, their rifles at a 45-degree angle of correct slant, the legginged ankles stepping a single cadence. They had marched thus, like mechanical men, at strict 'attention" for 10 miles.

USO Is a Part Answer

THE FIRST DIVISION OFFICER who stood with me had said, "If a man is tired enough his morale will take care of itself. He's hungry so he eats. He's tired so he sleeps"——a spiritual stiffening with no time for droop. It was a brutal system. But it was a brutal war, needing brutal methods to whip the world's most brutal enemy. So that was one form of "morale building" in which the thought of actual combat and a release from muscle-cracking drudgery became a welcome prospect. For in that older day every man in England's great war classroom dreaded a continuation of that boredom worse than Hun fire—or so they thought.

Today the Army morale problem is different and more serious. For as a young rifleman at Frankfurt told me sourly, paraphrasing Winston Churchill, "Never have so many contributed so little in so long a time." For now the U. S. field soldier has too much time on his hands to brood. There are few places to go outside barracks and cantonments, no week-long, 24-hour combat problems to learn, no disciplinary tone-up marches, no days of rain-mud-wind-and-fog with little sleep, no baths and a diet of K rations.

Now, our occupation troops live stationary lives in heated quarters. They eat three hot meals a day and perform routine, meaningless chores. Then they putter or search for the most convenient form of excitement, which if not available in wholesome form is forthcoming from the next and nearest substitute. It's a parallel to the same problems of juvenile delinquency which we face here at home and for which we spend so many millions on social agencies. The soldiers are not juveniles to be sure, but they can become just as delinquent and a dangerous social sore.

I say the oversea soldier, younger and greener than his war prototype needs the USO more than ever and the USO depends on public donations just as much. For Europe holds no charm for the U. S. soldiers, who rarely see much of its natural beauty. Perhaps the countryside of Italy and Germany IS beautiful, with its crazy quilt farm fields, its winding ribbons of road bordered by umbrella pines or poplars, its quaint villages and austere villas. But the average U. S. kid is not impressed by his antique surroundings and has small concern for historic memory. He is a practical minded modernist with healthy appetites and in need of his American contacts. It is our duty to give them to him. And the best agency to do it is USO. It's our investment in tomorrow.

B's Eager to End Series With Red Wings Tonight

By FRED HOEY

Needing one more victory to clinch the Class B series of the Stanley Cup finals from the Detroit Red Wings, the Bruins, even after their two straight impressive wins, certainly are not over-confident in their big test tonight at the Garden.

Mgr. Art Ross and Coach Dit Clapper have impressed upon the boys that any series can go into the ashcan even with a 3 to 1 lead. Ross does not permit Stanley Cup finals talk.

This was evident during the 18-hour trek homeward from Detroit. The writers, in a kidding mood, asked the Bruins how they were going to play against the Canadiens in the finals. There were no answers.

It was a great joy for this observer to see those two games in Detroit. It proved that pro hockey as played today, with its long forward passing, is the ultimate in speed.

That last game was a humdinger. The first period was so fast it reminded me of the days of Gainor-Weiland-Clapper of Bruins vs. Joliat-Morenz-Gagnon of the Canadiens.

This is a ruthless series too. The rules of today permit so many liberties that one wonders if the rule makers are not inviting trouble. Customers like this slambang style of hockey with its tremendous speed. Whether it will hold up is a question.

Those games in Detroit were savagery itself.

Tonight's game at the Garden should be another such exhibition. These birds are playing for the dough. They are going all out to get it.

It's ridiculous to state that Detroit only lacked the breaks to win the Tuesday game. The Bruins clearly outplayed them. The Boston team played hockey as it should be played. It awaited its breaks, got them and produced goals To be sure the Wings made quite a flurry in the second period, but, when a team constantly misses the net with its shots, that's poor hockey on its part.

Ross will continue to direct from the bench while Dit Clapper will be back on defense.

Art announces a change for the game. Herb Cain will right wing the Don Gallinger line which has Bep Guidolin on left wing. The more we see of Gallinger and Guidolin the more we like them.

2 Team System Irks Yankees

TAMPA, Fla., March 28 (AP)—Retribution is setting in gradually in the case of the New York Yankees and the two-team system—which Larry MacPhail sprang upon an unsuspecting Grapefruit circuit this spring.

The Yankees themselves now are enmeshed in a very awkward situation, one entailing a more than 400-mile overnight bus trip between Daytona Beach, Fla., and Charleston, S. C., for the lesser of their training teams, and they are very unhappy about it. Every body else is enjoying a hearty chuckle.

The facts are these: The Yankee Bradenton, or "second" team is scheduled to play Brooklyn today and tomorrow at Daytona Beach, and then to play the same Brooklyns the next day, Saturday at Charleston, which is a long way up the Atlantic coastline, especially by bus.

The Yankees, just awakening to what is about to befall one of their wandering squads of athletes, suggested yesterday at St. Petersburg that the Friday game at Daytona be cancelled. "Maybe we won't play it," said Arthur Patterson, traveling secretary of the Yanks.

"Maybe you won't play it?" replied Manager Leo Durocher with considerable bite. "You'll play it, pal, and like it. The commissioner doesn't like teams that break playing dates. Not only will you play it, but I'll send half my team up to Charleston on Thursday so they will be good and rested for your boys when they get there."

General Manager Warren Giles of the Cincinnati Reds saw red first when the Bradenton aggregation came here for two games. Feeling they owed an obligation to Tampa fans, the Reds warned them in glaring letters in the papers that the Yankees they would see in action were not the real McCoy.

Roger Peckinpaugh, vice-president of the Cleveland Indians, also rose in arms when he learned the Bradenton second-stringers were to open the exhibition campaign at Clearwater, but rain averted what might have been an open break at that time.

The refusal of the Brooklyn club to cancel the game at Daytona Beach tomorrow, or even to feel sorry for the groggy Yankee athletes who will have to ride a lurching bus all night simply is a distillation of the resentment against what the other owners feel were highhanded tactice on President MacPhail's part.

Jacobs Cuts Comps For Grazino, Servo Go

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—The demand for tickets to tomorrow night's fight between Rocky Graziano and welterweight champion Marty Servo has been so great that Promoter Mike Jacobs has cut down the usual allotment of complimentary tickets. The scrap is expected to gross around $170,000 at $20 tops.

Jake La Motta Will Try To Knockout 'Chicken'

By JACK CONWAY

"THERE IS ONLY one way to fight 'Kid' Chicken who I meet at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tomorrow night," said Jake LaMotta over his grapefruit and toast at the Bradford Hotel this morning. "I must keep crowding him, pouring punches at his head and body and finally I will make an opening for a clean punch to the jaw. That is the way I fought 'Popeye' Wood, and I succeeded in knocking him out in eight rounds."

LaMotta wanted to know what kind of a fighter "Kid" Chicken is. He said he had a vague idea of having seen him box somewhere, but wasn't sure.

Jake LaMotta

I told Jake that "Kid" Chicken recently defeated Rudy Evans here, that he previously won eight bouts in a row in Holyoke, that he is a fast, shifty boxer, and hits from all angles.

"Why do they always match me with those crazy guys who throw punches from everywhere?" demanded LaMotta.

"Probably because Ray Robinson and Tony Zale will not have anything to do with them," I replied.

"I sometimes think I have been a sucker to take on some of the crazy punchers I meet," went on LaMotta. "As the No. 1 challenger for a title bout with Tony Zale, middleweight champion, I may find out some night I am silly to take so many chances.

"I sometimes think that the best way to become a champion is not to take a single chance once you get into the key spot as challenger. Then some promoter who I like comes along and asks me to take on a particular tough opponent who no other top flight boxer will meet, and I just cannot say no."

Will Weigh 160-161

LAMOTTA declared he weighed 162 pounds when he completed his first Boston workout at Harry Kelley's gym.

"I will weigh 160 to 161 pounds when I enter the ring at the Garden," said Jake. "I shall have all of my speed and punching power. I plan to set a fast pace from the start. I'll cut Chicken down to my own speed after a few rounds, and then I shall try to knock him out."

"What then?" I asked.

"Sugar Robinson if he will meet me, or Tony Zale for the title," was the quick response.

"I thought I beat Robinson the last time I met him in Chicago. So did most of the fans who witnessed the bout.

"I can appreciate why Zale is avoiding a bout with me. Tony gathered a little ring rust while in the Navy and he needs some tune up matches to get fit. If someone like 'Kid' Chicken does not knock me off I'll go on to win the title. I am sorry Boston will not have a chance to get this match. When it takes place, it will go to New York or Chicago. Boston has a chance to get the Robinson match. I have already told the Goodwin Club people I will sign to meet Robinson here. It is now up to Sugar."

Likes Louis to Win

I ASKED LAMOTTA if he had seen Joe Louis and Billy Conn since they got out of service.

"I saw Louis in New York, but have not met Conn," said Jake.

"Louis looks a bit heavy, but I think he can take off the excess poundage."

"Who will win?"

"That's a pretty hard question to answer," replied LaMotta. "Louis has slowed down, but can still hit. Conn is younger and faster, but he also gathered ring rust in the Army. I really cannot state right now who will win. Well, if you must have an answer I'll string along with the champion. Louis has always been a pretty good fighter when the big chips have been down."

LaMotta looked to be in perfect condition.

"I train faithfully," said Jake when I remarked on how well he looked. "You might also say that after Louis beats Conn he will have to meet Tami Mauriello. Tami is one of my pals, and he will give the 'Brown Bomber' a good going over. Tami can hit, while Louis does not take a punch too well. I also think Oma has the class to give Louis a real fight.

"If you find out the answer to the $62 question, call me up at Harry Kelley's gym and tell me why I always have to fight crazy punchers like 'Kid' Chicken."

I told La Motta I would.

Miss Gretchen Merrill, world's leading girl amateur figure skater, will give an exhibition. Miss Merrill, a Brookline girl, is a student at the University of Southern California. There will be other figure skating exhibitions.

Eagles Pivot Group O.K.

Although there are but a pair of candidates for the center spot present at spring practice these sunny afternoons, Denny Myers, head coach at Boston College, is not too worried, for three veteran pivot men are expected back in the fall.

Al Toomey and Joe Fitzgerald, a pair of 200 pound linemen, answered the Eagle mentor whistle, and are being kept pretty busy.

Word has been received, however, that Manny Zizzus, Tom Moran and Joe Kulis will be available this fall. All are discharged veterans who played under Myers before the war.

Zizzus and Kulis will resume classes in September as sophomores and, although Moran is in school now, he has been troubled by recurring attacks of malaria and decided to sit out the spring drills.

GOLF

Pros Can't Play, All Tourneys

By BYRON NELSON

During 1945 the professional golfers competed in 42 tournaments for $375,000 in prize money.

Byron Nelson

Now the demand for tournament dates is so great that we may play a tournament a week during 1946 for more than $600,000 in prize money.

This is great for professional golf, but no golfer can play week after week and remain at the top of his game. He must rest and find some method of relaxation to make him temporarily forget golf.

Last year I left the tournament circuit in October after winning the Seattle Open and I didn't touch a golf club for 62 days until I returned to action in the Fort Worth, Tex., Open.

Thanks to friends in Denton, Tex., I think I have found the perfect form of relaxation after the tension and strain of tournament golf. It is horseback riding.

During the latter part of the 1945 summer tour I received a wire from Bitsy McCray, president of the Denton Rotary Club, asking if I would be in Denton on Nov. 15 as they wanted to give me a party.

I was made an honorary member of the Rotary and presented with a button. After I had made the acceptance speech, telling what a nice community Denton was to live in, the meeting was adjourned. We were then asked to step out on the front steps of the building.

I saw a beautiful mare, a Tennessee Walking Horse, standing there. My first thought was that the photographers were going to make a picture of me on the horse because I was from Texas. Instead they called Louise, my wife, forward and presented her with the horse.

While I was still admiring the little mare a man came riding around the school building on a beautiful red horse, also a Tennessee Walking Horse, which was presented me. That was one time when I can truthfully say I was speechless. It came as a complete surprise. My wife's horse, Linda, is a two-year-old while Rex, my horse is three. I don't believe Louise and I will ever receive nicer presents because we've always wanted to have riding horses.

Court 'Flagpole' Grief Unsolved

DETROIT, March 28 (AP)—The biggest problem in basketball—that of the six-foot-plus players who stand under the baskets and toss shots in with ease—is still unsolved.

So declared Lloyd Brazil, Detroit basketball coach, today as he reviewed recent proposals to curb activities of the "big fellows" of the basketball courts. Brazil said:

"Admittedly something must be done to equalize things to give the fellows under six feet tall a chance, but the big question is what can we do that won't harm the game in some other respect?"

"As long as Bob Kurland of Oklahoma A. & M., George Mikan of De Paul and Don Otten of Bowling Green were around and scoring a lot of points, there was bound to be a lot of agitation against them. They'll be gone next season, however, and most of the fireworks will disappear," the Detroit coach added.

"I saw Mikan stand under the basket and score 53 points against Rhode Island State, almost without moving more than two or three feet, simply because he's six feet, nine inches tall," Brazil reminisced.

Budge Belted By Riggs Again

Bobby Riggs lobbed a 6-2, 7-5 triumph over his lanky tennis rival Donald Budge at the Garden last night during their 25-game series for the national professional championship crown.

The 12-game second set advanced into a deuce affair seven times before Riggs, the defending champion, won on his opponent's service.

The preliminary match was called after the second set when Wayne Sabin and Johnny Faunce rallied to a 6-6 deadlock. Sabin took the first set, 6-3.

Jason Trains for Nationals Between Malaria Attacks

Between shaking off attacks of malaria and setting his lobster traps off Cohasset, heavyweight Kenneth Jason, the slugger who brings his knockout punch up from the deep South as the New England amateur champion, trains for his return to the National AAU championships to be held at the Garden, April 8, 9, 10.

Jason, an honorably discharged Army veteran, was runner-up to the national title in 1942 but he hopes to go all the way in the drive this year.

The Cohasset Clubber spent five years in the armed forces. He just recently returned from active duty with the 14th Airforce and in China O. S. S., teaching the Chinese commando tactics to be used against the Japanese. It was in China that Jason picked up the malaria bug which struck him just a week before he stepped into the New Englands to whip New England champ, Henry Lester, and then Dave Beattie in the finals.

Beattie, a native of Malden but still in the U. S. Navy, will be alternate in this division. He has just returned from duty in the South Pacific.

Other N. E. titlists and their alternates, who will be in the Nationals include: Frank Collins, Roxbury (alternate—Joe Gomes, Providence), in the 112's; Mickey Maguire, South End (alternate—George Cote, Lawrence), in the 118's; Ernie Martineau, Avon (alternate—Ken Salois, Lawrence), in the 126's; Tony Araujo, Providence (alternate—Henry Small, Quonset), in the 135's; Billy Daley, Somerville (alternate—Bob Perkins, Lynn), in the 147's; Billy Geary, Dorchester (alternate—Armando Vivolo, North End), in the 160's; Gene McIntyre, Boston (alternate—Walter Peters, U. S. N.), in the 175's.

Teams from all over the country, as well as Hawaii, will be entered in this National competition.

Dedham Girl Meets Champ

Katherine Hubbell, Dedham, will meet Mrs. Helen Pederson Rihbany, New York, defending champion, today in the finals of the Women's Indoor Tennis Championships at the covered courts of the Longwood Cricket Club.

The Dedham girl advanced to the finals by drubbing Judy Atterburg, 6-4, 6-1, while the champion defeated Sylvia Knowles, Newport, R. I., 6-3, 6-2.

Edith Sicourney and Mrs. Hazel Wightman defeated Judy and Sylvia in the semi-finals of the doubles, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

BETHLEHEM STEEL COMPANY

Treichel on Spot Against Colonels

By BILL GRIMES

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 28—Manager Billy Southworth gave Al Treichel an opportunity to regain his standing among the Braves pitchers this afternoon against the Louisville Colonels.

On his last two appearances, Treichel hasn't shown anything. During the early weeks of training, he was as hot as a pistol. Then he failed in a relief role against the Athletics, who scored five runs in two rounds.

Last Sunday, at Miami, Treichel couldn't get anyone out in the second inning, after the Giants had come up with four runs in the opening frame.

Like everyone else, Southworth thought the Braves had a find in Treichel. In the early games, Treichel was as loose as a goose. He took a long limber wind-up and showed a live fast ball and a good curve along with a pretty fair "change up." But on the afternoon when he relieved against the A's and again last Sunday,he was tight as a "G" string.

Before breaking camp Southworth had a long talk with the 6:5 right-hander. He went into great detail pointing out Treichel's weaknesses.

In the minor leagues, Al was a strikeout king, but he also topped the other hurlers in bases on balls. He has developed a bad habit of not looking at the target, the catcher's glove. During his wind-up, he glances first at the ground and then allows his eyes to turn first to the left and then to the right. Such unorthodox actions could account for his wildness.

"You are not pitching the way you did earlier this month," Southworth told Treichel. "You had a fine motion in the extra inning game with the Giants, and on the night you shut out the A's at West Palm Beach, you were loose and free and had plenty on the ball. Since then you have tightened up"

"You must get free and pitch three-quarters overhand. Forget your side arm and overhand deliveries. They'll get you into trouble. You must use your best pitches up here. Major league hitters look for and pick on cripple pitches. You cannot afford to spot them anything. It's tough enough getting by with your best stuff."

Southworth spent more than an hour with Treichel that evening. The big pitcher sat and listened attentively. As the boss started to leave, Treichel thanked him for the advice and promised to follow instructions.

Sox Use Russell At First Base

By HERB FINNEGAN

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28—Glenn "Rip" Russell, the big turkey man from Los Angeles, entered the first base competition on the Red Sox today when he was placed at the bag against the Yanks.

Glenn Russell

That didn't mean necessarily he had moved ahead of Rudy York at the post; just that Cronin wanted to make the Indian "get a move on." Also, that if Russell plays an acceptable first base he'll be available as a utility man this year. He fills in at third and second on occasion.

Russell should be able to play an acceptable first base. He was the regular first sacker on the Cubs in 1939. He led the club in runs-batted-in. He chased Cavarretta to the outfield and Cavarretta was the league's most valuable player last year. Gabby Hartnett was manager then, and he was wild about Russell, who, like York, bats and throws right-handed.

"I only hope I can stay with this club as long as you do," Hartnett once told Rip. That wasn't long. Hartnett was removed in favor of Jim Wilson, and Jim Wilson didn't think much of Russell's first basing. So off he went to Tulsa, won the most valuable player award and finally wound up in L. A. where he batted .342 last season. He always could swing the bat.

Russell's a good-natured soul with a good income from his turkey farm, and asks favors of nobody. In fact he'd just as soon play in L. A. as in the majors. "Because I can look after my business interests. But I'll tell you one thing: If Cronin keeps me, I'll play more games at first base than York. I can hit."

Hughson was to face the Yanks today, Ferriss the Cards tomorrow . . . Russel has been handicapped with a bad knee and has been idle for a week . . . Mickey Harris' pitching has been disappointing. "Too heavy," the players say. "He doesn't do enough running."

Only a four-run rally in the eighth inning, which was featured by Sam Mele's triple, saved the Sox Subs from taking a beating from their farm club, the Louisville Colonels . . . They won 10-8 . . . Don Lang, who played third base, clouted a home run in the second

Braves Leave Javery in South

FT. MYERS, Fla., March 28—The Braves pulled out of Ft. Lauderdale early this morning and bussed here for a game with the Louisville Colonels. After the game, they'll climb back into their motor conveyancy and head for Tampa, where they'll catch their breath for four days while playing the Cincinnati Reds along with two games at Lakeland against the Detroit Tigers.

A tenth inning home run by Nanny Fernandez was the only difference between the Braves and Phils in the final game of the training season at Westside Park . . . Elmer Singleton went five innings, allowing one run and five hits . . . John Hutchins didn't look so good during his stretch on the mound . . . He was in trouble all the time while allowing two runs and six hits.

Al Javery and Art Johnson, ailing pitchers, are on their way to Deland to work out with Indianapolis . . . Javery had X-rays taken of his elbow and the plates showed negative . . . Southworth wasn't satisfied with Javery's performance against the Phils at Miami Beach on Tuesday. So he advised Al to remain in the Sunshine State until April 6, when the Indians break camp . . . At that time, if "Jave" isn't right, he'll be sent to Greenwood, Miss., where the Braves have a training camp for some of their farm clubs . . . Johnson will go along with Javery to Greenwood . . . Buddy Gremp is still with the Braves but has been optioned to Hartford, where he will play the outfield . . . When this squad gets to Tampa tonight, there will be 37 players in the Boston party. But some ten or twelve will be sent on their way before Monday . . . Tommy Holmes will be rested for a few days. He hasn't hit for his weight this spring . . . The same goes for Johnny McCarthy. GRIMES.

Fly-Tying Club Formed By Disabled Veterans

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

So great is the interest in fishing among disabled and convalescent servicemen at the Chelsea Naval Hospital that the boys have organized a Fly-Tying Club. The group was formed under the guidance of 19-year-old Chet Hobbs, of Careyville, who has been a patient here since last November, and is dreaming of the happy day when he will be able to enjoy a real fishing vacation with his dad.

In the Graft Room at the hospital, there is a locker containing some of the equipment needed for turning out colorful streamers and lures. The enthusiasts gather at a table during leisure hours, practicing the art diligently, while they wonder just how many trout their flies will hook.

Arthur Stansfield and Paul Provandie, fly-tying experts of the Mass. Fish and Game Ass'n, made a return visit to this hospital Tuesday evening, where they staged exhibitions and movies for the aspiring anglers. After Arthur had produced several fine patterns, Chet Hobbs tried his hand at the art, proving very adept at it; he tried a flowing streamer of his own creation, plus a nice Mickey Finn.

"I did a little fishing at Guam," he told us, "using surf rods. A pal of mine hooked a big hammerhead shark—but his line snapped. Almost every veteran plans to go hunting or fishing, for those seem to be their favorite sports."

Bill Dimick, of Milford, Me., expects to be released in three weeks, and can't wait to seek salmon "as a civilian." He intends to try for his Master's Degree in Ichthyology—the study of fish—at the University of Maine.

New members of the group included Harley Carpenter, of Joplin, Mo., who is fascinated by flytying; Eustace McNeill, a beginner, from New York city; Lt. L. Yagen, of Maine; and Joe Leone, New York, a devotee of Adirondack lakes.

Miss Margaret Kelly, a Red Cross recreational worker here, was stationed near the Persian Gulf during the war, stating that she once landed an "unknown specie" of fish there, weighing 45 pounds! She also saw the fabulous "walking fish," which run along the beach on their fins like puppies . . . Page Bob Ripley!
